Tanbeeh

تنبيه

The pager for restaurants and cafés. Identity, logo, colour and type.

Your customer’s phone is the buzzer now.

تلفون زبونك صار هو الجرس.

Tanbeeh (تنبيه, “alert”) replaces the plastic restaurant buzzer. Customers scan a code at the counter, and their phone rings the moment staff tap Ready. No app, no devices to lose, nothing to charge.

Premium

White space, a confident ink, one warm accent. Never busy.

Warm

Ember orange is hospitality: a kitchen, a lit stove, a welcome.

Clear

One message per screen. Numbers big, labels small.

Alive

Small moments of play: a pulsing dot, a tilted sticker. Used once.

MIX

80 white · 15 ink · 5 ember

HOW WE SOUND

Say it like staff would

Your order is ready.

طلبك جاهز.

Local, not formal

Arabic in a Lebanese voice, English kept plain.

منحكي متل ما بيحكي الزبون.

Short beats clever

No app. Nothing to charge.

بلا تطبيق. بلا شحن.

Almost ready.

تقريباً جاهز.

The mark is the one moment Tanbeeh exists for: the order is nearly done and the customer is about to be called. It reads as a progress ring, and it is drawn from simple, ownable geometry.

01 The ring

An order in progress. It runs clockwise from 12 o’clock, like a timer filling.

02 The gap

Not finished yet. The gap is what makes it a moment, not a static circle.

03 The ember dot

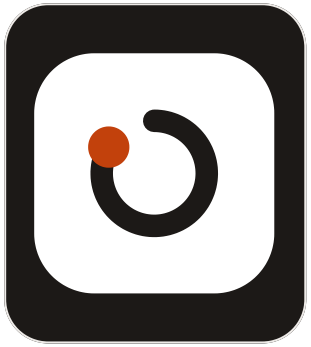

The call. The only ember in the mark, sitting on the ring’s leading tip.

Six versions, one shape.

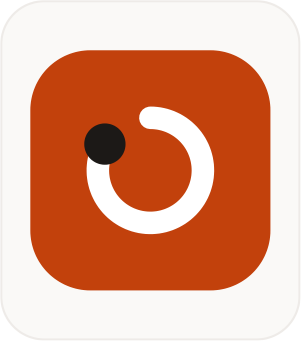

Use the primary mark unless the background calls for another. Never rebuild the mark: use the master files in `identity/logo`.

Primary
Ink tile. The default everywhere: apps, favicon, documents.

Light
White tile for ink or photo backgrounds.

Ember
For merchandise and campaign moments only. The dot turns ink.

Symbol
No tile. When the logo sits inside other UI or next to the name.

Symbol on dark
White ring with a glow dot, for ink surfaces.

One colour
Stamps, receipts, thermal printers, engraving, embossing.

The name sits beside the mark.

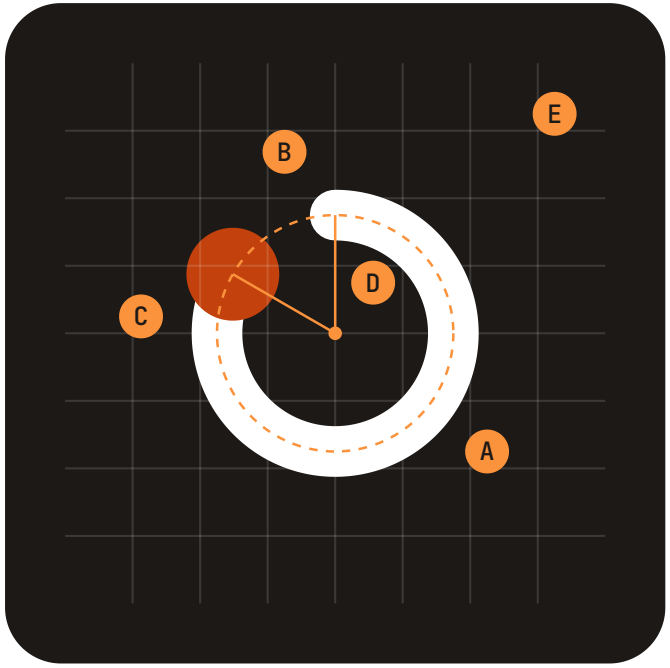

The name is set in Alexandria Bold. In Arabic the mark leads on the right, as the start of the line. Keep the gap between mark and name at a quarter of the tile.

Construction

Drawn on a 64-unit grid.

- A Ring: radius 14, stroke 6, round caps
- B Starts at 12 o’clock, runs 300° clockwise
- C Dot: radius 5.5, centred on the ring’s end at 210°
- D Ring centred in the tile
- E Tile: 64 × 64, corner radius 16 (25%)

Clear space

Keep a margin of x on every side, where x is a quarter of the tile.

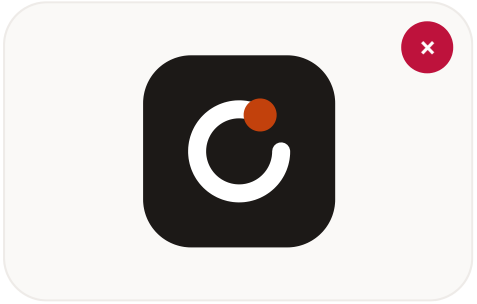

Minimum size

Mark	16 px	6 mm
Name with mark	96 px wide	25 mm wide

Keep it exactly as drawn.

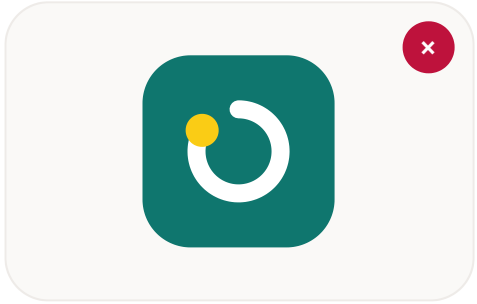

The mark only works because it is simple. These changes break it. Signal waves and a smile-shaped curve also belong to another brand in our market, so keep well clear of them.

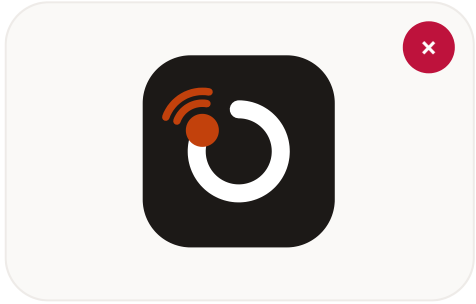

Don’t rotate

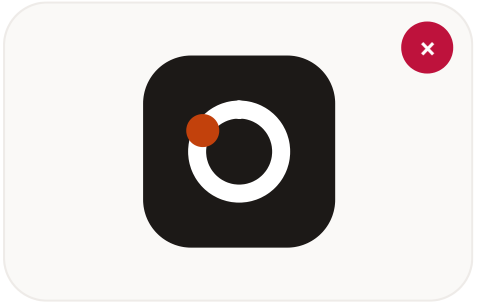

Don’t stretch

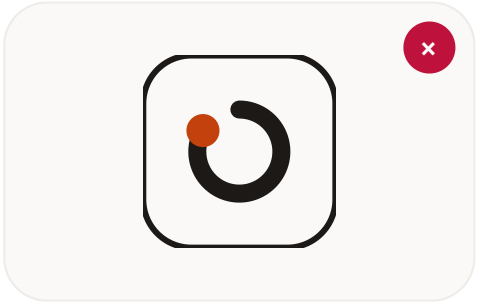

Don’t recolour

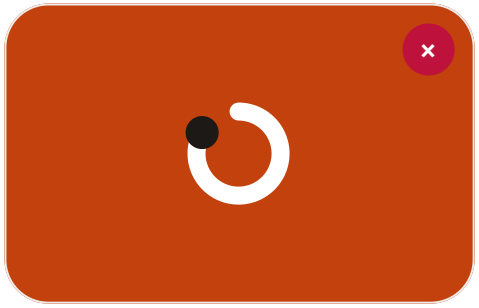

Don’t add signal waves

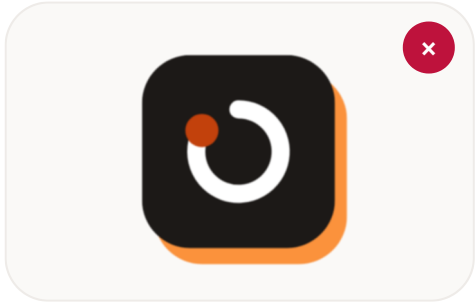

Don’t close the ring

Don’t outline the tile

Don’t lose contrast

Don’t add effects

One ember element per view. Ember text fails contrast on ink, so use Glow there. * CMYK values are a starting point: proof against the hex and RGB values with your printer.

Small uppercase labels, IDs and codes. Latin only: Arabic labels use Plex.

All three families are open source (SIL Open Font License) and cover Arabic or fall back to Plex. The apps are right-to-left first.

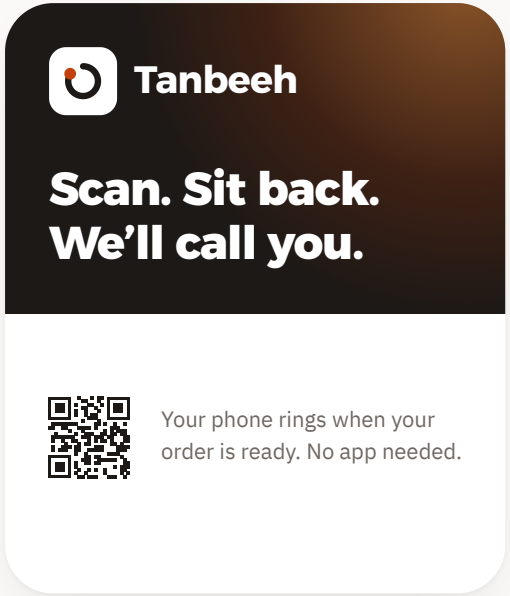

On the phone

The app icon is the primary mark on a full square: iOS and Android round the corners themselves. Android notifications use the white one-colour symbol.

Sample content. Venue names and order numbers are illustrative.

Counter cards and stickers

Printed pieces lead with an ink or ember panel, then a large QR code on white. One message only.

- QR codes always on white, at least 25 mm square
- Ember panels sparingly: one per piece
- The venue's own logo can sit on the white area
- Print the mark from `logo/pdf`, never from screenshots

QR codes and copy are samples.
